◆ Key Findings

■ Domestic Doctors Cosmetics Market in FY2015 Attained 89.9 Billion Yen, 104.9% on Y-o-Y Basis

The domestic doctors' cosmetics market in FY2015 reached 89.9 billion yen, 104.9% of that of the previous fiscal year based on the shipment value at the brand manufacturers. Despite that the growth rate had once slowed down partly due to stagnant sales at the leading brands in FY2013, the market size has been on the rise once again in FY2014 and beyond. In addition to general steadiness of the mail order business, such factors as function-added products having been introduced in the market, and those products sold at drugstores and department stores having acquired some inbound tourism demand contributed to the sales increase.

■ Those Function-Enhanced Products Such as Aging Care and Skin-Whitening Potential for Future Growth Factors

The domestic doctors' cosmetic market for FY2016 is projected to achieve 91.7 billion yen, 102.0% of the size of the previous fiscal year. It is because the market can attract consumers with its mainstream products consisted mainly of skincare products which are indispensable for the people having or recognized as having troubled skins (such as sensible skins and dry skins). In addition, the efforts of the manufacturers to enhance the functionality of the products such as aging care and skin whitening is likely to maintain the steady sales. Moreover, larger interests toward the characteristics of doctors' cosmetics are likely to in part capture inbound tourism demand.
